If you are one of those people who read the ‘small print’ you may already have spotted a change to the left-hand column on this page. After 39 years (that is correct, we checked), Nigel Dawes has handed over responsibility for the advertising in Meeting Point to Bernard Amos. Huge thanks are due to Nigel for all his hard work over the years, always completed with good humour and charm. And a warm welcome to Bernard.

It is always good to receive news from Olveston School and this month we hear about a visit to the school from Bristol Swifts and about the school’s plans to set up a ‘Village University’ – are you intrigued? Find out more inside the magazine.

News from, and about, our younger readers also includes an account of a recent Brownie Pack Holiday and a review of Marlwood School’s production of Oliver!

Phil Savage

Phil was born in Southmead Hospital and delivered by Dr Percy Phillips – the significance of which will come clear later. His GP father died young and his mother raised him alone. He attended Bristol Grammar School and then read medicine at St Bartholomew’s Hospital in London, following in his father and uncle’s footsteps. There he met his wife Wendy, a student nurse, and they married after Phil qualified. At that time all doctors were male and all nurses female, hence many similar pairings. Nowadays seventy per cent of doctors in training are female, they tend to marry men in other professions, are able to work part-time and this contributes to lack of continuity in care.

The couple briefly moved to Essex for Phil to finish his post qualification registration and then to Bristol University Medical School, where he taught anatomy to continue his training to become a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, (FRCS). Wendy, already a midwife, qualified as a Health Visitor. They lived in Clifton for two years and their son Julian was born. Phil’s first surgical job was in the newly opened Casualty Department of the Bristol Royal Infirmary. On the actual opening night they were warned over the radio by the ambulance service of a major incident, so were preparing as they heard the sirens and then saw blue lights rushing towards them........then the doors flew open with trolleys bearing Chinese takeaways to celebrate the opening! One of his next training jobs was at the old Bristol Maternity Hospital on The Downs; he so enjoyed this discipline that he decided to train as a Member of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists, (RCOG). Two years in Exeter followed before Phil came back to Southmead Hospital as a Consultant working on the Percy Phillips Ward - and thus the wheel turned full circle!

Their daughter Jenny was born in 1973 and Wendy was very happy to become a full-time mother. Before she did nursing, she was apprenticed as a trainee seamstress to Norman Hartnell, courtier to the gentry. As a result she was skilled at sewing, embroidery and quilting and always made all her children’s clothes. She volunteered at the American Museum showing visitors the famous Quilting Collection, about which she was hugely knowledgeable. The family moved to Kington near Thornbury to be close enough to work for Phil but also a country environment. John Crossley, a colleague and well-known character in Tockington, introduced them to Thornbury Choral Society and thus they first met David and Sandy Shaw.

Phil was in student drama as a performer and sketch writer at college, in fact as a contemporary of Graham Chapman, and thus working with the Monty Python group who had come to London from Cambridge to do their clinical training. At Southmead he was involved in the Christmas shows and played cricket where he met Bob Slade. Linda Evans took over Parish Players in 2002 and Phil played his first part in Pirates of Penzance, followed by many others. Phil took early retirement in 2009 when Wendy became ill. They resigned from Thornbury Choral Society and Phil joined the choir at St Mary’s Church.

Before retirement Phil, by now a Fellow of the RCOG, taught and examined for them, which took him to Sudan, Malaya, India, Egypt and Singapore. Charity hikes for Hike and Hope (an ovarian cancer and prostate cancer charity) have taken him from the Dead Sea to Petra, and the Rift Valley in Kenya. Antarctica was specialist bird watching holiday.

As well as playing golf at Bristol Golf Club he joined Thornbury Rotary Club, was President in 2012 and is still Chairman of the Youth Support Committee. Sadly, Wendy’s health deteriorated and she died last year, but not before they celebrated their Golden Wedding and a trip to Canada to visit Julian who is an ENT specialist in Quebec. Jenny is a teacher in Hertfordshire and Phil is looking forward to taking her and her family with him to Canada for three weeks shortly.

He is determined to keep busy now he is alone, and there is something on every day. Not mentioned already is his membership of the Bristol Medical Reading Society, a day a week at Slimbridge as a ‘Guide in a Hide’, and travel talks he gives to local societies. Finally, he joined the Parish Hall Committee as a Church rep. and is now Chairman of the Management Committee.

At our June meeting we were taken back 9,000 years by Phil Savage, who talked to us about the history of Petra and his walk through Jordan to this phenomenal city. UNESCO has described Petra as ‘one of the most precious cultural properties of man’s cultural heritage ‘and it certainly is impressive. What is equally impressive is the dedication and hard work put in by Phil and his colleagues to take on such an arduous task in order to support charities which raise money for cancer research.

This was followed in July by another evening of our own, much less energetic, fund raising via bingo games. This month we are hoping for fine weather when we have a barbecue planned.

Two interesting and very different speakers have kept us engaged recently. The first of these was Sarah Harris, who gave us her talk entitled ‘Marie Antoinette’s Guide to Farming’. We were not sure what to expect as Sarah recounted her experiences as a fledgling farmer with little experience of lambing, hedging or general farm management. To say she learnt ‘on the job’ is an understatement. Her stories and presentation gave us a very entertaining evening and, like Marie Antoinette, after a number of years she gave up her farm and is running a very successful knitting shop in Clevedon. (That is Sarah, not Marie Antoinette!) The second speaker was Paul Evans, who treated us to monologues, anecdotes, recitations and poems, interspersed with reminiscences of times gone past that many of us could appreciate.

Our fund raising for the Made a Mark charity has been very busy. Jane Haworth held a coffee morning at her home in Haw Lane on 14th June, which was very successful, despite the wet weather. Two of our members, Rita Garlick and Julie Dawes, (combined age 170 years) bravely completed a zip wire slide in Wales. Their sponsored efforts have helped to swell our fund. Thanks to all who gave so generously to both endeavours.

Bristol Swifts Visit

We would like to share with you some news about the swifs that nest in the original school building. As part of swift week, Year 5 had an inspiring talk from members of Bristol Swifts (www.bristolswifts.co.uk).

Here is what they said about the visit on their Blog:

‘Our visit yesterday to Olveston Primary school was wonderful. I must admit I wasn’t 100% sure what to expect, but I needn’t have worried. We were blown away by the children’s knowledge and enthusiasm. Full credit must go to Tom Carter their teacher. I wish I’d had a teacher like him when I was at school. It was hands-on practical teaching of the highest standard. Something the school children could actually see, feel and write about. Their poems were brilliant, it inspired me, and I was only there for a short while. One little schoolgirl had even built a swift box and painted it with beautiful silhouettes of swifts all over it. What more can I say?

We spent a very enjoyable hour outside in the playground listening to the children’s poems and answering their questions. I must say their questions were some of the best I’ve ever been asked. Kids have a knack of asking just the right thing. The reason we were outside in the playground was because the swifts are nesting just under the eaves of the school which was the Old Library. It was built in 1836 and has open soffits. The swift nests couldn’t have been any more than 12 feet off the ground and there must have been 7 or 8, possibly more. As the children read out their poems the swifts came swooping in right over their heads. No more than a few feet of the ground, you could have almost touched them. Every time a swift came in a huge ‘oooh’ greeted its arrival. It was absolutely magical.

After I featured some of the children’s poems on my Blog a couple of weeks ago a primary school in France has contacted me. They’ve done something similar and would like to set up communication with Olveston and share messages. Marvellous thing this internet.’

Creating a Village University

Calling out to members of the community. Do you have a skill to share?

We are making plans to provide our children with skills and opportunities beyond the requirements of the Primary National Curriculum and believe that the answer sits within our local community. We believe that only through trying a wide range of activities, will children find where their interests and talents lie. We have a vision of creating a ‘Village University’ bringing community and school together. The possibilities are endless but here are a few ideas: knitting, woodwork, engineering, photography, pottery, stained glass, gardening, weaving or quilting. You would be working with a small group of children, aged between 5 and 10 years old (overseen by a member of staff) every Friday afternoon. If you think that you would like to be part of this exciting new initiative, please send an email to olvestonschool@sgmail.org.uk.

The school is committed to safeguarding and promoting the safety and welfare of children and young people. All staff and volunteers are expected to share this commitment and will be subject to appropriate vetting, including an enhanced DBS disclosure check.

Thank You

Almost £1000 was donated at Virginia Ward's funeral on May 17th. This has been shared between Cancer Research UK, St Mary’s Church and Olveston Methodist Church.
Concert in Alveston Methodist Church

Tuesday August 13\textsuperscript{th} 7.30pm

Mariko Izumi (piano) and Michael Henderson (viola).

A recent review of this performance said:

‘The pleasant atmosphere, which in our opinion is essential to such a duo, was immediately noticed thanks to a surprising musical complicity between the two performers. A perfect fusion of melodies and accompaniments.

Entry is free with a retiring collection.

Birds of a Feather? \textit{Trevor Cook}

It was a warm day; warm enough for my daughter and I to drink tea in the Heritage (Papilio) Garden (many other coffee shops available in Thornbury!) and quiet enough to allow my grandson to explore the garden.

Enjoying the sunshine and conversation, I was distracted by the high-pitched ‘zizzy-zee’ call of long-tailed tits. And very quickly the family revealed itself in the adjacent trees; calling out to each other as they passed through.

Now, long-tailed tits are not an ‘everyday’ bird; they tend to roam along the hedgerows or woods staying in one place for just a few minutes and then moving on.

However, as I watched them feed, a pair of treecreepers flew through the garden underneath the flock. Now, locally, you may find treecreepers in the woods on Sheepcombe Brake and the woods on Tockington Hill, but perhaps not so frequently behind Thornbury High Street.

Recounting the story of the treecreepers, a fellow birder explained to me how birds like the treecreepers often fly along underneath the tits, enjoying the relative safety of up to ten pairs of eyes keeping watch above them.
The lesson is that, if you do find long-tailed tits passing by, cast your eyes downwards because you never know what might be flying along below them enjoying the security of the flock of tiny lookouts. Birds not of a feather can still flock together!

1st Olveston Brownie Pack Holiday to Brockweir

Ellie, Scarlett, Caitlyn and Amelia

Friday

My Dad took me to the Community Shop (at Brockweir) where we all played until it was time to walk to where we were staying. We then put out our things where we were sleeping. We were put into ‘sixes’ – Pear Drops, Toffees and Jelly Babies. Then the Jelly Babies served everybody, and we had jacket potato with cheese or tuna mayonnaise. Then for pudding we had fruit, a little chocolate brownie and I forgot the last thing. After pudding we washed up. After supper we made our treasure boxes whilst listening to Chitty Chitty Bang Bang songs because that is our theme.

Saturday

I woke up at about 6.00am and, when everybody was awake, we got into our Brownie uniforms. The Pear Drops made us breakfast and the Jelly Babies served everyone. We washed up and then got ready to go on a long walk to Tintern Abbey and I was really tired at the end. We had lunch and I was so hungry that I ate it all! Then we went to the shop to buy some things.

After walking back to the hall, we put up some tents! After that we toasted marshmallows and sang songs (the marshmallows were yummy). Then we went on a glow stick and CD trail and it was fun. When we got back, we put all of our glow sticks together and put them in a circle around our beds. Then we went to bed!!!

Sunday

Jelly Babies got a lie in this morning, Pear Drops sorted out the tables and Toffees cooked breakfast. After washing up, we walked to the Old Railway station – well, it was a kind of treasure hunt where we had to find different sculptures. When we got back to the hall we played in our tents, then we stayed outside for lunch – pizza and salad – it was really nice. After lunch, we finished making our windmills, mine is pink and green. I really enjoyed my Brownie Pack Holiday.

Friends of Marlwood School

Oliver!
In the first week of July, audiences at Marlwood school were treated to an outstanding performance of Oliver! Some extremely talented young people belted out classic favourites from Lionel Bart’s show. There was a characteristically eccentric Fagin, a terrifyingly broody Bill Sykes, a brilliantly humorous Mr Bumble, a cheeky Artful Dodger and an emotional Nancy - who struggled on with a hoarse voice, which added an even deeper level of poignancy to her performance. Oliver was perfectly cast with his sad, soulful eyes coupled with an incredibly clear voice. The leads were supported by a fabulous cast of urchins who danced and sang their hearts out.

Audience members were blown away by the talent of the students alongside the professionalism of the show. The stage stretched down the middle of the hall so that the cast had room to move around creatively and the audience felt engaged. Sound, lighting, props, all were excellent. Huge praise must go to Mr Ben Humphries who led the musicians and Mrs Becky Ferguson who produced the whole show. We should all be extremely proud of what our local school can produce.

Thank You
In fact, 3,990 times thank you to everyone in the Marlwood community and beyond who voted and supported The Friends of Marlwood School’s recent Tesco Bags of Help bid in the Thornbury Tesco store.

FOMS are over the moon to announce we claimed the top prize, bagging £3990 which will be used to buy the school a lot of brand-new gymnastics equipment. This funding will transform gymnastics PE lessons for pupils, and we are very grateful to everyone for getting behind this appeal. Thank you too to Tesco, for generously supporting our school community in this way. The new gymnastics equipment will be in school ready for the start of the new school year in September.

Carers Support Centre Bulletin

Summer is here and it is a great time to get out and about and enjoy all the amazing things to do in our local area. But if you are caring for someone with an illness or disability this can feel like a daunting task, whether with the person you care for or if you are grabbing some time out alone.

A bit of forward planning, as well as getting to know what help is available for you to access local attractions and services more easily can help a lot. Carers
Support Centre has plenty of advice and information on their website www.carerssupportcentre.org.uk to help you plan a day out, how to find carer and disabled friendly attractions, as well as what local discounts are available to you and / or the person you care for, and how to access them.

Finding accessible tourist attractions and leisure facilities

Many visitor attractions have made real efforts to make sure they are accessible to all, so if you have a particular place in mind it is always worth checking on their website or giving them a ring to find out what they have in place.

Transport

You can also find loads of helpful information and links on the Carers Support Centre website if you need help with transport, whether that is information about bus passes and discounted rail travel, access to community transport schemes, or advice about travelling with medical equipment.

Discounts and free entry

Lots of local attractions and businesses now offer discounts for carers, and most visitor attractions and leisure facilities should give free entry for carers if you are supporting the person you care for.

Whatever you end up doing this summer, have a great time!

If you or someone you know is a carer in need of help, contact CarersLine: 0117 965 2200

Although the summer is a quiet time for Olveston Parish Twinning Association, we have undertaken to run a stall at the St Mary’s Summer Street Fayre on Saturday August 17th. Please come and find us if you visit the Fayre – as well as our stall, we will have information about OPTA, what we do, how you can join and so on. We look forward to seeing you there.

For a few years now, OPTA has run an Autumn event inspired by the Breton festival of Fest Noz (which means, simply, night festival) which is when people of all ages in local communities get together for fun, food, music and dancing.
We have tried to do different things each year: there has been French food-tasting, a local band, apple pressing and a magician. We have even tried to do some of the Breton dancing that our visitors from Bréhan have taught us, but without their guidance we are pretty useless! We are still at the planning stage for our 2019 event but put a note in your diaries: Friday 18th October 6.30pm – 9.30pm in Olveston Parish Hall. It will be fun!

Yours Faithfully

Vine House of Prayer

All of you reading this article will have celebrated many anniversaries, be they for birthdays, weddings and others, including the remembrance of loved ones no longer here. In recent months there have been quite a number of poignant, even painful, remembrances for the Nation, not least the 75th anniversary of the D-Day landings in June.

Then we have Remembrance Sunday in November, when the courage and sacrifice of so many who died and suffered in wars and battles for the protection of the Nation is remembered. Often, in connection with the latter, one might hear the words, “Greater love has no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends”.

On hearing those words, I wonder how many thoughts are turned to remembering the one who first spoke them; words of Jesus recorded for us in John chapter 15 verse 13. He spoke not just of his impending death but of the life laid down in service to the will of God the Father. Therefore, when Christ came into the world, he said:

“Sacrifice and offering you did not desire, but a body you prepared for me; with burnt offerings and sin offerings you were not pleased. Then I said, ‘Here I am—it is written about me in the scroll—I have come to do your will, O God.’ ” [Hebrews 10:5–7]

He completed that will in life and in His death upon the cross. Prior to the latter he instituted a feast of remembrance celebrated in congregations across the denominations and in less formal gatherings in homes or wherever, and known as Communion, the Lord’s Supper and other designations. This is taken at different times and in different ways but, Jesus did say “do this in remembrance of me”.

It is not the only time that we should remember Him, of course, but it is an important act of remembrance. I wonder. How important is the life and death of Jesus to you today? How do you evidence your remembrance of him
