From the Editor

Grace’s delightful front cover this month heralds the run up to a Diamond Jubilee June across the country. Look through the magazine for more about scarecrows …

But before you settle down to the Jubilee insert and the other Jubilee activities, do read some very special memories about farming in the past. Among many other things going on in May, you might like to make a date with Music in the Church at Aust and catch up with Uganda Link news.

If you see yourself as an eco-warrior, enter the recycling competition and, talking of competitions, if you live in Olveston, please consider carefully the house-decorating invitation.

Our cover this month is by Grace Marr aged 7½ who goes to Olveston School

Farming memories from Jean Panes and Alice Neale

Alice and Jean were born into farming families. Both married farmers in Olveston parish and their memories go back to what life was like on the farms in the early half of the twentieth century.

Alice moved with her family between farms in Littleton until they moved to Ostbridge Manor Farm on Pilning Street when she was seventeen. She was married from there, and she and her husband Roland farmed at Northwick for six years before being offered Mead Farm, opposite Tomorosa, where they spent the rest of their working life.

Jean married Charlie in 1949, by which time he had taken over the family business at Poplars Farm. Charlie’s father started picking watercress and selling rabbits to earn the money to buy some cattle, which he then drove from Ubley in Somerset, stopping overnight on Horfield Common, and then on to Holm Farm. Later he moved to Port Farm and, after becoming a widower, he was remarried to the daughter of the owner of Poplars Farm on Pilning Street. When Charlie was five the owner died and his father bought the farm.

Their combined memories tell of hard work and busy lives for adults and children alike. The farms were mixed arable and livestock, which would include sheep, cattle, pigs, hens, ducks and turkeys. There were always plenty of labourers as most things were done by hand. Alice and Jean remember the men hand milking twice a day, either outside or in a shed, wearing sacks on their shoulders, hats, and with a cigarette in their mouths and carrying the milk in two buckets on a yoke to the milk churns. Initially the milk was sold locally, although before the war it was difficult to sell at all. Later it would be collected from the farms by lorry, as it still is today, albeit in large tankers.

Hay making and grain harvesting were long processes compared with today’s combine harvesters. Hay was cut by horse drawn mower, loaded on to wagons and brought into the yard where it was built into a rick, which was then thatched to keep out the weather. Grain was cut by horse drawn reapers and emerged as sheaves which were built into stooks to dry. It was then brought into the yard by wagon and built into loose ricks which were again thatched. Later, usually after Christmas, the one and only steam driven threshing machine in the area would come to thresh it and bag it into sacks. There were always several terriers standing by to catch the rats as they fled. In the winter children were paid to gather stones from the field so as not to damage the reapers. There was great excitement when Roland bought a baler, which he lent out to local farms, and Jean remembers similar excitement when Charlie bought a brand new tractor, for the princely sum of £300!

There were always ducks and hens running round so eggs to collect, and sometimes turkeys raised for Christmas, and butter to be churned. The many skills needed on farms in those days included: hedging and ditching, thatching and making the spars that hold the thatch in place, ploughing with horses, and sheep shearing. Jean remembers, as a child, collecting stray bits of wool from the fields to take to school, where they washed it, dyed it with wild plants for different colours, spun it and wove it into scarves.

When they got married in the 1940s, both Alice and Jean moved from their parents’ farms which had reasonable utilities, to their new lives on farms without electricity or mains water. These didn’t arrive till the 1950s. Alice’s farm had a bore hole from which they pumped spring water which supplied their needs, and Poplars Farm used water from the rhine to feed cattle and had a well for general use. Drinking water had to be collected once a day in a milk churn from the pump at Olveston Green. Both raised their young families by paraffin lamps and candles, heating water in coal boilers. Washday was in fact three days: Sunday soaking, Monday boiling, washing and drying outdoors and Tuesday ironing with a flat iron heated on the fire.

Most farms made cider for their own use, taking the apples to be pressed at the Plough Inn, Pilning. Mead Farm had a large cider apple orchard and they eventually acquired a cider press. As they got older, Alice and Roland sold the milking herd and restocked with a small Guernsey herd and Charolais beef cattle until they retired and left the farm in 1986. Jean and Charlie retired in 1988. Their farm was turned into a golf range for a short time, but is now home for one of their sons.

Alice said ‘We did enjoy our farming lives and it was a wonderful time for children to be brought up on a farm’. Having lived all their lives in the farming community they are rather sad that it has not been possible for their children to continue the tradition, but this is a story that is happening all over the country. Small farms have disappeared, and large farms operate with massive machinery and few workers. Jean thinks it must be a lonely life ploughing a large field on your own all day - for all the hard work, there was a real sense of community, all working together, that has now become lost.
January
A very boisterous beginning to the New Year with severe Atlantic storms battering the Country with gale force winds and heavy rain. Following this a benign period of mild weather and little rain for a week. A colder short period followed this. Some rain with warm conditions continued until three days from the month’s end when cold air, from a high pressure system centred over Siberia, spread over the Country. Average temperature and pressure were marginally above norm but rainfall was marginally below. We had a few snow flurries on the 30th.

February
A high pressure system bringing cold air from Siberia continued in place for the first fortnight of the month with cold days and bitterly cold nights. In this period we had a warmer respite for only one day. We had 1 ½ cm of snow on the 4th but it quickly dissipated. The remainder of the month was cloudy but mainly dry with some sunny spells bringing daytime temperatures above average. Average rainfall was below norm and the lowest since February 2003. The temperature was 1.2 °C less than normal whilst atmospheric pressure was very high.

March
The first half of the month continued to be dominated by high pressure with almost constant cloud keeping the temperature reasonably high but with virtually no rain. A short spell in mid month with lower pressure and a little rain soon gave way to high pressure which dominated for the rest of the month with chilly nights but with prolonged spells of warm sunshine and high temperatures. Average pressure for the month was about 15 mb above average but temperature was 0.5 °C below norm and rainfall was more than 1 inch below average. We had 26 days without rain.
Me and My Girl

Barbie Davies

From 21st to 24th of March, Tockington Village Hall was packed with people joining in “The Lambeth Walk” and revelling in numbers like “Leaning on a Lamp-Post” as The Parish Players presented a sparkling production of “Me and My Girl”. Inventive director Linda Evans had inspired her cast (of a wonderfully broad age range) to bubble throughout the witty script and capture the spirit of the 1930s.

This show gives excellent opportunities to both chorus and main parts alike. Mark Collins used his considerable acting skills and glorious voice to capture the mischief and warmth of the barrow boy Bill Snibson struggling to take on his inheritance as a Lord. Together with his beloved Sally (confidently played by Amy Sunderland) the couple gave the audience some fine solos and duets to enjoy. Lynn Shelley, as The Duchess, has gone from strength to strength and together with Mike Jones, as Sir John, the pair created excellent comedy with real panache – as did Phil Savage as the family solicitor.

Flirtatious gold-digger Lady Jacquie (Heather Collins-Jones) and her delightfully “wet” fiancé, Gerald (Chris Bentley) also gave the audience many a giggle. However, every member of the cast contributed to the fun in one way or another. A rising star must surely be vivacious and musical Holly Anderson who played the part of the Telegraph “Boy”.

Memorable scenes included the servants singing “An English Gentleman” as they despaired of their new Lord. With only a trio of experienced dancers, the chorus had also learned to tap-dance under the encouraging tuition of Jill Harris, whose choreography throughout the show defied the small stage area with imaginative routines. There were many lovely details injected to make this show bowl along at a cracking pace with talking tiger rugs, remarkable June Robbins as the Pearly Queen, and even a routine of playing the spoons!

All the fun was enhanced by a feast of costume and set. What a challenge Keith Richards and crew had to tackle the many scene changes in such a small space both on and off stage! Nevertheless, we enjoyed everything from a vintage car and portrait gallery to a lamp-post lit back street and mansion kitchen, all most effectively lit by Richard Churchill.

The music of the production was sensitively supported by the skilful trio and the direction of Chloe Allsopp-Jones.

As ever, The Parish Players’ choice of show, attention to detail, enthusiasm and polish provided a winning recipe for a cracking night out!
Police Report March 2012

There were a total of 24 calls to the police for the month, ranging from horses on the road (around Pilning/Tockington area) to reports of non-dwelling burglary.

A total of 6 crimes for the beat which are of note to the community: these included theft of metal from Woodhouse Scout Park, a couple of break-ins to out buildings in Tockington where bikes and tools were stolen, and a break in to an isolated stable block in Oldbury/Hill.

There seems to have been an increase in break-ins to stables in the wider area lately. Please can you make sure that items are marked and if possible registered on Immobilise.com

Rogue Traders in South Glos

South Gloucestershire Trading Standards would like strongly to remind residents to be wary of those visiting unexpectedly and offering their services.

• Be wary of traders who cold call, and the deals they offer you – it is unusual for genuine tradesmen to need to cold call to drum up work!
• Do not allow any unknown and unexpected visitor into your home.
• If you agree to work, you are afforded cancellation rights by law, and these should be given to you in writing. It is a criminal offence not to provide these in certain circumstances.
• If you are unhappy or feel intimidated by the visitor – shut the door and call the police.

If you do have work you wish to be carried out, why not use a trader who is a member of the Trading Standards operated Buy With Confidence scheme? For a list of approved traders visit www.buywithconfidence.gov.uk or contact South Gloucestershire Trading Standards on 01454 634001 or email trading.standards@southglos.gov.uk.
Don’t be in too much of a hurry to put out bedding plants, especially if they have been bought from a garden centre. Remember they have been kept in warm greenhouse conditions and must be gradually hardened off before planting out.

There is still time to make sowings of some hardy and half-hardy annuals. Godetia Sybil Sherwood is worth growing for its salmon pink flowers, and looks well with blue cornflowers or annual anchusa.

Many of last year’s annuals will have seeded in the border, collect and transplant them in groups. Larkspur and Love-in-a-Mist self-seed well.

If, like me, you have failed to cut off old seed spikes of lupins, you may find seedlings. Lupins like an acid soil, apply a mulch of peat to encourage good growth. Stake delphiniums. A sprinkling of Shirley poppies can add all summer interest to a border.

Early in the month prepare and manure ground for outdoor tomatoes, but leave planting out until the end of the month. About the second week sow French beans outdoors, set seeds 2”-3” deep and 6” apart. Be ready to cover potatoes if frost is forecast. Sow main crop carrots. Peas may be sown for August picking and a successional sowing of lettuce, radish and parsley may be made.

Take slips of all herbs to replace old plants.

Happy gardening, don’t forget water for the birds.

"Building Blocks" –
Thornbury Methodist Players present a comedy by Bob Larbey

Jim and Mary Baxter are in the middle of having an extension built on to their house. A great deal of their time is taken up with negotiating with the builder, the charming but evasive David, who seems to have put them very low down on his list of priorities, and is alarmingly adept at creating elaborate excuses for his firm’s shortcomings. By turns hilarious and touching, this well-observed comedy will bring smiles and groans of recognition to all those who have ever been involved in this situation – and a few rueful warnings to those who have not! This production runs from Wednesday May 16th to Saturday May 19th at Thornbury Methodist Church Hall (just off the High St). Curtain up is at 7.45pm and tickets can be obtained by phoning 414749 or 600268. Prices are £7 for adults and £6 concessions.
Uganda Link News

In May, an adult gospel choir from Uganda will be touring the region giving concerts. A Bristol-West Deanery event is being held on Friday 18 May at St Mary’s Church, Stoke Bishop, starting at 7.30pm. Tickets are £2.50 each from Saffia Bullock (07917 276 410). More information and the full schedule are available at www.bristol-uganda.co.uk or you can call the Rev Chris Dobson on 0117 906 0100.

In May we also have three visitors to Bristol from Northern Uganda, the Rt Rev. Johnson Gakumba, Rev. Willy Akena and Rev. Norah Akidi. Rev Norah will be visiting Olveston School on the afternoon of Wednesday 23 May, following which there will be tea served for all in St Mary’s – starting at approximately 3.40pm when families arrive from school. If you would like to be involved helping prepare and serve tea, please contact Sue Farr (614 861). This will be a wonderful opportunity for different generations to mix in church and chat with Norah and all are very welcome.

Welcome To Olveston C.E.V.C Primary School!

Harriet and Jess
Year 5

Our school is a wonderful place to be. We have 203 boys and girls ages 4-11. Our school is full of amazing activities and amazing talent.

Our school is full of smiles and laughter, at the same time we produce really good work and good friendships. We try our best to be good friends at all times.

In Ofsted we got OUTSTANDING! In our school we try our hardest to get to the targets that we're aiming for. We have our own library where you can relax and read books. Our mums helped to paint a huge mural on the library walls – it is stunning!

We have the BEST Head Teacher, Mrs Luke, who does her best for our school and she helps us with our work and problems. We have a lovely Deputy too called Mrs King. All our fantastic teachers make our lessons interesting and fun! In the School Office Mrs Hemming and Mrs Peacock meet and greet visitors.

If you have a skill or talent to share with us then pop in and introduce yourself.

Open Morning at Stepping Stones
Thursday 17th May 10am – 12.00 noon, Elberton Village Hall

Since moving to a more natural environment at Elberton Village Hall, Stepping Stones have been able to increase the learning opportunities for children, by being able to offer a forest session in the surrounding woods.

We invite you to come to see the benefits which the children gain from these experiences, along with the wonderful natural garden. Aside from these new facilities, Stepping Stones remains a small, friendly preschool which only takes 16 children per session. This allows us to offer “attentive, individual, one to one care in an environment where every child is heard”.

Parish Council Annual Meeting
Every year a parish council must hold an annual meeting in May. This year, the parish council’s annual meeting will be on Tuesday 8th May at 7.30pm at Elberton Village Hall. This will be an ordinary meeting of the council but the special business that has to be dealt with at each annual meeting is the election of a chairman. As for all meetings, this one is open to members of the public.

Planning issues
Your council has submitted comments on two current appeals, one relating to the land adjoining Quarry House in Littleton, and the other an appeal by the owners of Redhill Farm, Elberton, against enforcement proceedings. In the latter case, an agricultural building has been erected which is larger than that for which permission was given.

The owner of Blakedown Nursery in Elberton has applied for permission to build 12 houses. The Council has not discussed it at the time of writing, but from earlier discussions, I think it is likely that Councillors will be very much opposed to this scheme.

Further discussions have been held with South Gloucestershire planning department about enforcing the breaches of planning control at Green Acres landfill site in Aust and the land adjoining Quarry House, Littleton. Your Council continues to monitor these issues closely.

Annual Meeting
The Annual Parish Meeting was held on 17th April and a brief report of it will appear in next month’s Meeting Point.

Littleton-on-Severn Open Gardens
Sunday 24th June 2012
Littleton gardens will be open on Sunday 24th June from 2.00 – 6.00. Parking, teas, and an exhibition will be at the Village Hall. Plants for sale, Pimms and a "Made in Littleton" stall will be in various gardens. Our village Church, St. Mary de Malmesbury, will be open.

Entrance will be £3 per person (children free) and all proceeds go towards essential replacement of the church guttering and downpipes.
A wonderful morning to catch up with local friends and neighbours. The market offers fresh Sunday Lunch veggies, plants locally grown free range eggs, freshly baked bread and cakes, local honey and superb Cotswold rapeseed oil that can be refilled on request. In addition we now have gift and special treat stalls including cards if you are looking for that personal touch.

Looking forward to seeing you over a bacon butty and a coffee. By the way, don’t forget we are happy to swap anything grown locally for something on our stall. If anyone would like to book a stall - just give me a ring on the number above.

Museum News:
Artists and Allotmenteers

Following last year’s success, when we had hundreds through our small museum, we’re once again one of the venues for the Severn Vale Art Trail.

We’ve got Rosemary Millar (a jeweller), Dawn Wilkins (a photographer and painter) and Megan Walden (a watercolourist). Make the most of this opportunity to come and see their work and browse the museum at the same time. Lots to look at in our shop too! The artists will be here from Fri. 4 May to Sun. 13 May and our friendly museum volunteers are making sure we stay open every day from 10am to 4pm. It’s all free, so don’t be shy!

When the artists have left, we’ll have a brand new exhibition telling the history of Daggs Allotments. In 2010, a BBC gardening programme said they were quite possibly the oldest working allotments in the country. Come and find out about their history. Should they really be called Daggs?

Free entry for all, to all parts of the museum (although donations are very welcome!). We’re back to normal opening times for this exhibition: Tues-Fri. 1-4pm, Sat.10am-4pm. Find us next to the Armstrong Hall. Tel: 857774 or www.thornburymuseum.org.uk

Olveston Fête, 16 June: 'Church and School Together'

A reminder that Olveston Summer Fête will take place in the grounds of the school and vicarage on Saturday 16 June at 2.00 pm. Scarecrow Festival entries will be judged and the winning prize will be £50! See below for more information. We are particularly looking for new ideas for stalls and sideshows this year. If you can help, please let me know. Tickets for the Grand Draw will be available in May with a list of excellent prizes. The school children will be happy to sell you some.

More details in next month’s magazine, including a request for helpers of all kinds!

Scarecrow Festival

Debbie Harries

We are having a Scarecrow Festival in the village this year! Why not try a design? Big ones, little ones, different characters and lots of bright colours.

Scarecrows can be displayed from 9th June and put in prominent places so they can be admired throughout the week. They will then need to be taken to the Summer Fete on the 16th June, at the Primary School and Vicarage garden, where they will be judged - with a winning prize of £50!!

Good luck and have fun! Any queries ring 613273

From the Registers of St Mary’s Olveston

8th April  Baptism of Eleanor Lucia Zoe, daughter of Adrian and Johanna Baxter
8th April  Baptism of Jonathan Michael Peter, son of Adrian and Johanna Baxter
11th April Cremation at Westerleigh Crematorium of Kathleen (Kit) Finch, followed by Service of Thanksgiving at St. Mary’s Church, Olveston
Olympic taster!

All the W.I s in Avon were given the task of delivering the "Olympic Flame" from one village to another. This is a photograph of Olveston and Tockington members riding from Olveston to Almondsbury on Tuesday May 10th, on the back of a tractor and trailer owned by and very kindly driven by John Cryer, who is in the tractor cab. The members wore red white and blue and the trailer was decked out with bunting and the Olympic Rings.

International Women’s Day: thank you
from Mandy Welsman, Cath Purchase and Tracy Ford

We would like to thank everyone who supported the event by donating raffle prizes and cakes, and also everyone who attended and helped on the day.

The day was very successful and we raised £314.87. Proceeds from the morning raised money for Oxfam which will help women all over the world build a better future for their families. Also thank you to Olveston Primary School for allowing us to sell the remaining cakes after school the next day.
The Society of Friends is truly called a Religious Society (‘Quakers’ was a term of derision). George Fox in 1658 called people together: - “Be still and cool in thy own mind and spirit from thy own thoughts, and then thou wilt feel the principle of God to turn thy mind to the Lord God”.

We still practise his advice and use his silent Meeting for inspiration, for guidance and for prayer. We are a Christian Society, but everyone is welcomed from whatever source they come. We are Friends of Peace, Justice, Simplicity, Equality, Truth and Sustainability. We have no ministers or clergy or places for worship. We rely on our own members to fill the many roles we need. We try to live simply in this present world, very conscious that we over-reach the world’s resources.

The Society of Friends takes its Friendship seriously. We have just started a Memory Café in Thornbury, using the Methodist Hall every two weeks. Many people have come to share their memories and experiences for those with Alzheimer’s. We also support the Deaf/Blind children at the Kingswood Centre with their ‘Explorers’. We are part of a wider group of seven Meetings in Bristol – indeed in the United Kingdom – and at the United Nations and in Geneva.

We are supporting a Welsh Quaker Woman Friend who in June 2012 will be an Ecumenical Accompanier in Palestine and Israel. Supported by the World Council of Churches, she will be providing protection by her presence and advocating an end to the occupation. You may remember us inviting Israeli and Palestinian women six years ago to Thornbury. Or indeed the poetry evening in October last year.

We join together with other churches in Thornbury and our love and support go with you all.

Charlie Jarvis

Tracey, Jack and Laura would like to thank their many friends and neighbours for such wonderful support and kindness recently. £1192.80 has been forwarded to St Peter’s Hospice in Charlie’s memory.
